"Found Free"

Found Free, a dynamic Christian contemporary band will be performing a concert Sunday November 20 at 3 pm in Wheelwright Auditorium. We are very fortunate to be able to get Found Free to stop over during their North American tour. They have been acclaimed as having one of the most energetic shows in all of Christian contemporary music. They agreed to do the concert at a fraction of their standard honorarium because the proceeds of the concert will be donated to the Muscular Dystrophy Association.

The concert was scheduled at 3 pm so as not to interfere with the study time which we know all Coastal Carolina students faithfully adhere to each and every Sunday evening. In all seriousness, this time should be very convenient for all Coastal Students.

If you have never experienced the excitement of a live performance by a nationally acclaimed band with over eleven years and 800,000 miles of concert touring experience, you will not want to miss this rare opportunity.

Found Free has appeared with, among others, Andrea Crouch and the Disciples, B.J. Thomas, Joe English, and Petra. Group Magazine, a noted authority in the field of Christian contemporary music, called performance "A kaleidoscope of energy, sounds, styles, and pictures of excitement."

The regular ticket price is $5, but students get in for $3. Be sure to come out on Sunday at 3 pm for a good time and for a good cause. Sponsored by the Fellowship of Christian Athletes.

Notoriety and Cash Available

by JOHN WALKER

Dreams of fame and fortune are not unusual in this day and age. If you have aspirations for being a well-known artist, photographer or writer you should take advantage of the opportunities here on campus.

Take the initiative and submit your art, essays, photography, poetry and short stories to Coastal Carolina College's literary magazine, the Archarios. Each year faculty/staff and students contribute their works to make the Archarios a successful publication. Only through your efforts can we do this again. The 1984 Archarios awaits your contributions.

Having your first work published is not the only reason to contribute. Cash awards are available to first place winners and honorable mentions in each category. The money is yours for the taking. All you have to do is have your works submitted and selected as prize winners.

A special incentive is offered to contributing poets. Those interested and qualified will be able to present their poetry at a symposium during the Spring Arts Festival.

Persons wishing to contribute to the 1984 Archarios should place their works in one of the Archarios boxes around campus or submit them to John Walker in room 203A of the Student Center. Deadline for submissions is February 17, 1984 and the distribution of the magazine is scheduled for the week of the Spring Arts Festival.

Scholarships Open at College

Sophomores at Coastal Carolina College of the University of South Carolina who are interested in a career in government service at the federal, state or local levels are invited to apply for a 1984 Harry S. Truman Scholarship.

Established by Congress in 1975, the Harry S. Truman Scholarship Foundation operates a continuing educational scholarship program designed to provide opportunities for outstanding U.S. students with potential leadership ability to prepare for careers in government service.

In April 1984, the Foundation will award 105 Scholarships nationally. The local deadline for all 1984 applications is November 21, 1983.

Coastal Carolina College can nominate two students for the 1984 competition.

The scholarship award covers eligible expenses up to $5,000 per year for the junior year, the senior year, and two years of graduate study.

To be eligible, students must be full-time sophomores working toward or planning to pursue a baccalaureate program, have a "B" average or equivalent, stand in the upper fourth of the class, and be a U.S. citizen or U.S. national heading toward a career in government.

Interested students should submit a letter of application, a statement of career plans, a list of past public-service activities or other leadership positions, a current transcript, and a 600-word essay discussing a public policy issue of their choice to Dr. Paul Peterson, Truman Scholarship Faculty Representative, AC Bld. 102A, by November 21, 1983.

Carr Returns to Teaching

by ANN SANDERS
News Editor

Dr. Darcy Carr, Dean of the School of Business is leaving his administrative position to return to teaching. Carr will resume teaching in the Fall of 1984.

Carr attributes his decision to return to teaching on many things. He feels that the freedom and the classroom contact that he has missed in the last few years to be the main factor. "The classroom is a lot more fun than being Dean," Carr said. "Also being a faculty member gives you freedom. Being an administrator I lost that and I miss it!"

Carr also found himself missing the interaction with students and the act of teaching. "I always enjoyed teaching, that's why I got a Ph.D.," Carr said. "If I wanted to be an administrator I'd work for a private business and get more money. I just want to teach."

Carr who tried once before to resign feels that his biggest accomplishment during his four years as Dean has been the realizing of the Business Faculty. "I believe we've made the Business Faculty stronger and better," Carr said. "We've weeded out some problems."

Carr who became the Dean of Business in 1979 knew even then that the job was just a phase. "I knew when I took this job that I would not be the Dean of Business for the rest of my life. My predecessor told me not to take the job, it's obvious he knows me," Carr said. "And I ignored him but it turned out he was right."

The future holds a new Dean for the Business Department and for Darcy Carr it holds a chance to return to the world of teaching he left behind.

Fun Run

On November 3, a total of 44 faculty and students gathered together to participate in the two mile Fun Run sponsored by the Coastal Intramural Association. The categories were well represented with a high caliber of runners participating as well. Awards were given out to the first and second place finishers in the four divisions. The overall winner was Luis Arce, who represented the student class, with an outstanding time of 10:08. He was followed by fellow student Kenneth Moore who ran a 10:49 race. The first place in the student female division went to Debra Bryant, who finished with an excellent time of 11:57. She was followed by student Holly Foster, who finished with a time of 15:02. Dr. John Farely topped the faculty division with a time of 12:45. Dr. Tom Cooke's time of 13:16 gave him the second place award for this category.

The coordinators of the Fun Run were well pleased with the enthusiasm that was shown for this event. Because of the interest shown by all, another Fun Run may be held in the near future.

The subject of working and going to school is a well worn one. Students who work and attend Coastal Carolina are in three categories. Those who must work to support a household as well as pay tuition, those who live at home and are helped with finances and then there are the people in the third category. They are easy to spot. They drive daddy's '84 corvette and work only to support their habits...designer swimwear and recreational drugs.

Those of us who fall into the second category even have it pretty rough. Car payments, clothes, tuition, and gas make it necessary to work. Unqualified and inexperienced, we pull jobs at come-and-go-anyone-can-do-the-work establishments, fast food, theatres and convenience stores. Pity those who live alone. Work becomes essential and the teeth gritting conditions at these places can only be endured.

Donna Hill, a transfer student from Virginia, attended school full time, worked at a nearby hospital four days a week and was on call for the emergency room on the weekends. "What is terrible," she said, "is to see people who have nothing to do but study and they're not doing as well (in school) as you are." Margaret Anderson is another student who works. "As inexperienced as we are we can't get good paying jobs, and if you lose the one you have you risk having to drop out of school," she explains.

The cost of school alone is enormous. Tuition is $500, books $100 plus and if you are out of state, tuition jumps to a startling $1000. Even the school ring—the standard 10 carat, man's signet is over $200. By the time this year's freshmen graduate it will cost $500.

Most students who work have no other choice. We work or we do not attend school. Those people who have nothing better to do than go to school occasionally and party the remaining 20 hours do not have my respect. They're useless, and we will see them here on campus only as long as mommy continues to pay for their condo on the beach. For those of us who grind away at thankless jobs to get our education, when we're through, we may have suffered, but what we have acquired, our possessions and our schooling, is exclusively ours.

We have it! The chance to be in a real learning environment, where you can discuss and debate the issues that interest you with your professors and fellow students, is yours.

Join the History Club and make your thoughts and opinions known. At our sessions professors and students of all disciplines meet head on while expressing their points of view. You can even sit on the sidelines and watch the action if you prefer. But that will not last only because you will soon find yourself involved and in the middle of the conversation supporting your own ideas.

You do not have to major in history to be a member of the History Club. An open mind and an interest in the world around you are the only requirements. Samuel Eliot Morison's "Faith of a Historian" provides a few qualities that are also desirable: "honesty of purpose, balance, a respect for tradition, courage, and above all a philosophy of life..."

"Such is the substance of my faith; and if I were to sum up my credo in a single word, it would be that proud motto of Fustel de Coulanges, QUERO—I seek to learn." And you should too!

Tip Off Weekend

by THE CHEERLEADERS
Special to the Chanticleer

Have we got a weekend planned for you! The Coastal Carolina Cheerleaders in conjunction with the Athletic Department and Campus Union will present "Tip Off Weekend" November 18 and 19. This is your chance to come out and get wild and crazy, with the Chanticleer mascot. Some of the Activities include a bonfire/pep rally with free beer, a coffee house, free passes to Dixie Electric for Saturday night, half-time entertainment and the games. This is the Chanticleer's first home game. We urge everyone to come out and support Coastal.

If you were here last year, you are probably wondering about your yearbook. The 1982-83 Atheneum was not published due to complications with the publisher. Students who paid for a 1982-83 book can either get a refund or have your money go towards this year's annual. You should see Trish Marsh upstairs in the Student Center.

Trish is working hard on this year's Atheneum along with her staff, and is sure it will be promising. The Atheneum will cover year 1982-84 and will go out the second week in May. Cost will be $10 plus mailing. Anyone interested in joining the Annual Staff should see Trish. She will be glad to talk with you.

Also, student portraits will be taken January 4-5 during spring registration. Your portrait will be in the student section of the Atheneum.

The Annual Staff is very excited about this year's Atheneum, and wants to urge everyone to support it. Be sure to purchase a yearbook. You will not be disappointed!

The "Hit-Man" Larry Carr, baseball coach for Coastal Carolina College, will be the featured speaker at a baseball clinic Sunday, December 4 in Gloucester, New Jersey.

Carr will cover all aspects of baseball with special emphasis on hitting.

Carr's teams have sent 19 players into the professional ranks, seven from last year's 46-12 team. That team hit .352 and Carr has been a speaker for the American Baseball Coaches Association several times. He is also the author of "The Homerun-Hitter's Handbook," in 1979.

Other innovations by Carr include the "baby baseball," a two-inch ball used in batting practice, and a hitting technique that has been adopted by the national team of Holland.

Campus Union has been busy scheduling entertainment for upcoming events here at Coastal. Four members have gone to Charlotte, North Carolina to listen to prospective bands to provide entertainment and Nov. 18 Ty Curtis will be appearing.

Sharon Williams, Rich Bedser, Joyce Yedlowski, and Mike Watson went to Charlotte for the Fisher Association Showcase at Park Center. The showcase comprised of ten bands which played for 22 minutes each. The union members went to select bands for future events at Coastal. Several popular bands such as Sugar Creek, Shuffle, and Just in Time participated in the showcase.

The two favorite of those who went are the Dance Limited Disco and Tuff Breaks Bands. Campus Union will vote on both of these bands to decide if they will appear at Coastal.

Appearing November 18 at Campus Union Rathskeller is Ty Curtis. Ty Curtis, a former Coastal student, has appeared previously at other Campus Union functions. Admission is free and refreshments will be served. Just remember to bring age and C.C.C. I.D.

AN ROTC SCHOLARSHIP WILL TAKE CARE OF TUITION WHILE YOU TAKE CARE OF BUSINESS.

Coming up with good grades is a job in itself. It's even harder if you have to worry about coming up with tuition too. Army ROTC can lighten that load. We've got scholarships that pay tuition, required fees and an amount for books and supplies. Plus, pay up to $1,000 each year they're in effect.

What if you don't receive one? ROTC can still help—with financial assistance—up to $1,000 a year—for your last two years in the program.

So check out a way to keep your mind on the books not on the bucks. Find out more by contacting your Army ROTC Professor of Military Science.

Baseball Winds Down

Most would think this time of year would be a slow one for baseball coaches, not so for Coastal Carolina's Larry Carr.

Carr and his team are winding down the fall practice schedule and the sixth year coach seems eager to defend the NAIA District 6 crown the Chanticleers have owned five times.

The Chants have lost seven players to the professional ranks from last year's 46-12 team which advanced to the NAIA World Series in 1983. The Chants blasted 109 homeruns and batted .352 last season.

Carr says the purpose of the fall workouts were to "teach skills at the defensive positions and evaluate the personnel by position."

The roster has been sliced to 44 players and Carr split his group into three teams: freshmen, transfers, and veterans. "We have more depth than we have ever had before, especially in pitching and catching," said Carr. "We have the potential to have our best season ever."

The absence of outfielder Mickey Brantley (a second round pick by Seattle) and John Rigos (third round, St. Louis) poses a challenge to whoever replaces them. Between them they slammed 39 homeruns last season.

Leading candidates are John Carboneau (brother of former Cleveland rookie of the year, Joe) from Santa Clara, California, Denny Woods, a transfer from Spartanburg Methodist, and Mark Berghela, a JUCO transfer from Albany, New York.

Other talented newcomers Carr pointed to are freshman catchers Kirt Manwaring from Horsehead, New York and Dave Pastors, a transfer from Oklahoma St. First baseman Chuck Perry, also a JUCO transfer from Spartanburg Methodist looks promising as well as pitchers Scott McKinley, a transfer from Tri-C Junior College in Cleveland, Ohio and Fred Scheer, a transfer from Winthrop College.

Returning to the pitching staff are Bob Buckley and John Heck who has strong fall performances. Pat Lightle, who has the strongest fastball of the staff, hopes to bounce back from a shoulder injury and contribute this spring.

Infielders Jim Castellani, Mike Eden, Tom Sutryk, Buck Hosea, and catcher Chip Russell give the Chants excellent experience.

Parker Sees Promise for Spring

Men's tennis coach Marshall Parker looks back on the fall tennis season and sees a chance for Coastal Carolina to move up in the District Six standings from last year.

The Chanticleers finished third in the NAIA District Six last season and were ranked 16 nationally with a 15-5 record.

Our goal this spring is to finish at least second in the district. If we do that it will advance us into the national competition in Kansas City," Parker said.

The Chants competed in three tournaments this fall, the last one being the South Carolina Intercollegiate. The Chants finished fifth in the 12 team event behind

South Carolina, Clemson, Furman and Lander.

"That's the highest we've ever finished in the tournament," Parker said. "We were particularly happy to finish ahead of The Citadel and the College of Charleston."

Coastal placed third in District Six tourney behind Lander and Charleston, and won a four team tourney at UNC-Wilmington earlier this fall.

Parker lost the number four and six players off last year's squad but feels confident in replacing the pair.

"Our major strength is depth. We have six players that play fairly equally. Our number four, five and six positions should be very strong," he said.
